The Sutra Book of Hidden Valley Zen Center and Mountain Gate Temple Great is the matter of birth and death—
Life slips quickly by.
Time waits for no one.
Wake up! Wake up!
Don't waste a moment!

PRAJNA PARAMITA HRIDAYA
Heart of Perfect Wisdom

The bodhisattva of compassion
from the depths of prajna wisdom saw the emptiness of all five skandhas and sunder'd the bonds
that create suff'ring.

Know then:
Form here is only Emptiness, Emptiness only form.
Form is no other than Emptiness,
Emptiness no other than form.
Feeling, thought and choice,
consciousness itself, are the same as this.
Dharmas here are empty, all are the primal void.
None are born or die, nor are they stained or pure,
nor do they wax or wane.

So in Emptiness no form, no feeling, thought or choice, nor is there consciousness.
No eye, ear, nose, tongue, body, mind;
no color, sound, smell, taste, touch, or what the mind takes hold of, nor even act of sensing.

No ignorance or end of it,
nor all that comes of ignorance;
no withering, no death, no end of them.
Nor is there pain or cause of pain or cease in pain or noble path to lead from pain,
not even wisdom to attain.
Attainment, too, is Emptiness.

So know that the bodhisattva, holding to nothing whatever but dwelling in prajna wisdom,
is freed of delusive hindrance,
rid of the fear bred by it, and reaches clearest nirvana.

All buddhas of past and present,
buddhas of future time, through faith in prajna wisdom come to full enlightenment.

Know then the great dharani,
the radiant, peerless mantra,
the supreme, unfailing mantra,
the Prajna Paramita, whose words allay all pain.
This is highest wisdom, true beyond all doubt.
Know and proclaim its truth:

Gate, gate, paragate, Parasamagate, Bodhi, svaha!

AFFIRMING FAITH IN MIND

The Great Way...
Is not difficult for those who do not pick and choose.

When preferences are cast aside
the Way stands clear and undisguised.

But even slight distinctions made set earth and heaven far apart.

If you would clearly see the Truth
discard opinions pro and con.

To founder in dislike and like
is nothing but the mind's disease.

And not to see the Way's deep Truth
disturbs the mind's essential peace.

The Way is perfect like vast space,
where there's no lack and no excess.

Our choice to choose and to reject
prevents our seeing this simple truth.

Both striving for the outer world as well as for the inner void condemn us to entangled lives.

Just calmly see that all is One and by themselves false views will go.

Attempts to stop activity
will fill you with activity.

Remaining in duality,
you'll never know of Unity.

And not to know this Unity
lets conflict lead you far astray.

When you assert that things are real you miss their True Reality.

But to assert that things are void
also misses Reality.

The more you talk and think on this
the further from the truth you'll be

Cut off all useless thoughts and words and there's nowhere you cannot go.

Returning to the root itself,
you'll find the meaning of all things.

If you pursue appearances
you overlook the primal source.

Awakening is to go beyond both Emptiness as well as form.

All changes in this empty world
seem real because of ignorance.

Do not go searching for the Truth,
just let those fond opinions go.

Abide not in duality,
refrain from all pursuit of it.
If there's a trace of right and wrong,
True Mind is lost, confused, distraught.

From One Mind comes duality,
but cling not even to this One

When this One Mind rests undisturbed
then nothing in the world offends,

And when no thing can give offense,
then all obstructions cease to be.

If all thought-objects disappear,
the thinking subject drops away.

For things are things because of mind,
as mind is mind because of things.

These two are merely relative and both at source are Emptiness.

In Emptiness these are not two,
yet in each are contained all forms.

Once coarse and fine are seen no more,
then how can there be taking sides?

The Great Way is without limit,
Beyond the easy and the hard.

But those who hold to narrow views
are fearful and irresolute;
their frantic haste just slows them down.

If you're attached to anything
you surely will go far astray.

Just let go now of clinging mind,
and all things are just as they are:
in essence nothing goes or stays.

See into the True Self of things
and you're in step with the Great Way,
thus walking freely, undisturbed.

But live in bondage to your thoughts,
And you will be confused, unclear.

This heavy burden weighs you down—
so why keep judging good and bad?

If you would walk the highest Way
do not reject the sense domain.

For as it is, whole and complete,
this sense world is enlightenment.

The wise do not strive after goals,
the foolish put themselves in bonds.

The One Way knows no differences,
the foolish cling to this and that.

To seek Great Mind with thinking mind is certainly a grave mistake.

From small mind come rest and unrest,
but mind awakened transcends both.
Delusion spawns dualities—
these dreams are merely flow'rs of air—
why work so hard at grasping them?

Both gain and loss and right and wrong—
once and for all get rid of them.

When you no longer are asleep,
all dreams will vanish by themselves.

If mind does not discriminate,
all things are as they are, as One.

To go to this mysterious Source frees us from all entanglements.

When all is seen with equal mind
to our Self-nature we return.

This single Mind goes right beyond all reasons and comparison.

Make movement rest, and nothing moves;
see rest in motion—there's no rest.

When rest and movement cease to be then even Oneness disappears.

This ultimate finality
beyond all laws, can't be described.

With single Mind one with the Way,
all ego-centered strivings cease.

Doubts and confusion disappear,
and so true faith pervades our life.

There is no thing that clings to us,
and nothing that is left behind.

All's self-revealing, void and clear,
without exerting power of mind.

Thought cannot reach this state of Truth,
here feelings are of no avail.

In this true world of Emptiness,
both self and other are no more.

To enter this true empty world,
immediately affirm "not-two."

In this not-two all is the same,
with nothing separate or outside.

The wise in all times and places
awaken to this primal Truth.

The Way's beyond all space, all time—one instant is ten thousand years.

Not only here, not only there,
Truth's right before your very eyes.

Distinctions such as large and small have relevance for you no more.

The largest is the smallest, too—
here limitations have no place.

What is is not, what is not is—
ENMEI JUKKU KANNON GYO

Kan-ze-on, Na mu butsu Yo butsu oo in Yo butsu oo en
Bu po so en jyo raku ga jyo
Cho nen Kan-ze-on Bo nen Kan-ze-on
Nen nen jyu shin ki
Nen nen fu ri shin.

If this is not yet clear to you,
you’re still far from the inner Truth.

One thing is all, all things are One—
know this and all’s whole and complete.

When faith and Mind are not separate,
and not separate are Mind and faith,
this is beyond all words, all thought.

For here there is no yesterday,
no tomorrow,
no today.

TEN-VERSE KANNON SUTRA
FOR EXTENDING LIFE

Perceiving the cries of the world
I take refuge in Buddha.
All are Buddha!
All! Awake to Buddha—
Buddha, Dharma, Sangha—
Eternal, joyous, selfless, pure.
Through the day, perceiving the cries of the world,
Through the night, perceiving the cries of the world,
This moment arises from Mind,
This moment itself is mind!
THE VOW OF THE BODHISATTVA

Disciples,
When I humbly observe the true nature of things,
all are the marvelous manifestation of the Tathagata's Truth.
Atom by atom, instant by instant,
all are none other than this mysterious radiance.
Because of this our virtuous ancestors extended loving care and reverence toward even such beings as birds and beasts.
How then, can we be but humbly grateful for the food, drink and clothing that nourishes and protects us throughout the day, these being in essence the warm skin and flesh of the great masters, the incarnate compassion of the Buddha?

If it is so even with inanimate objects,
how much more should we be kind and merciful
in their great compassion, are employing skillful means to help emancipate us from the painful karma we have produced over countless kalpas through our biased, self-centered views.

If we awaken in ourselves this deep, pure faith,
offering humble words and taking sincere refuge in our True nature, then with every thought there will bloom a lotus flower, each with a Buddha.
These buddhas will establish Pure Lands everywhere and reveal the radiance of the Tathagata beneath our very feet.
May we extend this mind throughout the universe, so that we and all sentient beings may equally bring to fruition
the seeds of wisdom!
“High” and “low” are used relatively.
Within light there is darkness,
But do not try to understand that darkness.
Within darkness there is light,
But do not look for that light.
Light and darkness are a pair,
Like the foot before and the foot behind in walking.

Each thing has its own intrinsic worth and relates to everything else in function and position.
Ordinary life fits the absolute like a box and its lid.
The absolute works together with the relative,
Like two arrows meeting in mid-air.

Hear these words and grasp the Great Reality.
Do not judge by any standards.
If you do not see the Way,
you do not see it even as you walk on it.
When you walk the Way, it is not near, it is not far.
If you are deluded, you are mountains and rivers away from it.

To those who wish to be enlightened I respectfully say,
Do not waste your time by night or day!

THE HARMONY OF RELATIVE AND ABSOLUTE
[Sandokai]

The mind of the Great Sage of India
is intimately conveyed from West to East.
Though humans may be sharp or dull,
in the Way there is no northern or southern Patriarch.

The subtle source is clear and bright;
the branching streams flow through the dark.
To attach to things is delusion;
to encounter the absolute is not yet enlightenment.

Each sense gate is related to its field
and yet independent,
related and interacting,
though each keeps its own place.
Forms differ in their character;
forms differ in appearances.
Sounds may be pleasant or harsh.
The dark makes all words one;
the light distinguishes good and bad phrases.

The four elements return to their nature
as a child to its mother:
Fire is hot, wind moves, water is wet, earth hard.
Eyes see, ears hear, nose smells,
tongue tastes the salt and sour.
Each is independent
like leaves that come from one root.

Root and branches return to the Great Reality.
SHIKUSEIGAN
[The Four Bodhisattva Vows]

Shu jo mu hen sei gan do.
Bon no mu jin sei gan dan.
Ho mon mu ryo sei gan gaku.
Butsu do mu jo sei gan jo.

THE FOUR BODHISATTVA VOWS

Sentient beings are numberless; I vow to liberate them.
Desires are inexhaustible; I vow to put an end to them.
The Dharmas are boundless; I vow to master them.
The Way of Liberation is unsurpassable; I vow to become it!
OTHER CHANTS
OPENING THE DHARMA
[Chant Before Teisho]

The Dharma, incomparably profound and exquisite, is rarely met with even in hundreds of thousands of millions of kalpas. We now can see it, hear it, accept and hold it; May we awaken to the deep true Mind of Tathagata!

DAI E ZENJI’S VOW FOR A WAKENING

Our only prayer is to be firm in our determination to give ourselves completely to the Buddha’s Way, so that no doubts arise however long the road seems to be;
To be light and easy in the four parts of the body,
To be strong and undismayed in body and in mind,
To be free from illness and drive out both depressed feelings and distractions,
To be free from calamity, misfortune, harmful influences and obstructions,
Not to seek the Truth outside of ourselves so we may instantly enter the right Way,
To be unattached to all thoughts that we may reach the perfectly clear bright mind of prajna and have immediate enlightenment on the Great Matter.
Thereby we receive the transmission of the deep wisdom of the Buddhas to save all sentient beings who suffer in the round of birth and death.
In this way we offer our gratitude for the compassion of the Buddhas and the Patriarchs.
Our further prayer is not to be extremely ill or to be suffering at the time of departure, to know its coming seven days ahead so that we can quiet the mind to abandon the body and be unattached to all things at the last moment.
wherein we return to the Original Mind in the realm of no birth and no death, and merge infinitely into the whole universe to manifest as all things in their true nature and with the great wisdom of the Buddhas to awaken all beings to the Buddha Mind.

We offer this to all Buddhas and bodhisattva-mahāsattvas of the past, present and future in the Ten Quarters and to the maha prajna paramita!

THE MANTRA OF THE HEALING BUDDHA

Na mo bha ga va te Bai sa-jiya guru
vdu rya
pra bha ra ja ya
Ta tha ga taja
ar ha te
Sam yak sam Bud dha ya
ta dyja tha om
Bai-sa-jye
Bai sa jye
Bai sa jye
sam mud ga te Sva-ha!

MASTER HAKUIN’S
CHANT IN PRAISE OF Zazen
[Zazen Wasan]

From the very beginning, all beings are Buddha.
Like water and ice, without water, no ice, outside us no buddhas.

How near the truth, yet how far we seek!
Like one in water crying “I thirst!”
Like the son of rich birth wand’ring poor on this earth, we endlessly circle the Six Worlds.

The cause of our sorrow is ego delusion.
From dark path to dark path we’ve wandered in darkness—how can we be free from birth and death?
The gateway to freedom is zazen samadhi:
Beyond exaltation, beyond all our praises, the pure Mahayana.

Upholding the Precepts, repentance and giving, the countless good deeds and the Way of right living all come from zazen.

Thus one true samadhi extinguishes evils; it purifies karma, dissolving obstructions.
Then where are the dark paths to lead us astray?
The Pure Lotus Land is not far away.
Hearing this truth, heart humble and grateful, to praise and embrace it, to practice its wisdom, brings unending blessings, brings mountains of merit.
And when we turn inward and prove our True nature—that True Self is no-self, our own Self is no-self—we go beyond ego and past clever words. Then the gate to the Oneness of cause and effect is thrown open. Not two and not three, straight ahead runs the way!

Realizing the form of no-form as form, Whether going or returning we cannot be any place else. Realizing the thought of no-thought as thought, whether singing or dancing we are the voice of the Dharma.

How vast is the heaven of boundless samadhi! How bright and transparent the moonlight of wisdom! What is there outside us, what is there we lack? Nirvana is openly shown to our eyes. This earth where we stand is the Pure Lotus Land, And this very body, the body of Buddha!

DHAMMA SARANA
ANANNA SARANA

Dwell! You are the Light itself! Rely on yourself, Do not rely on others. The Dharma is the Light, Rely on the Dharma. Do not rely on anything other than the Dharma.
DISCOURSE ON LOVING KINDNESS
[Metta Sutra]
First translation

This is what should be done
By one who is skilled in goodness,
And who knows the path of Peace:

Let them be able and upright,
Straightforward and gentle in speech.
Humble and not conceited,
Contented and easily satisfied,
Unburdened with duties and frugal in their ways,
Peaceful and calm, and wise and skillful,
Not proud and demanding in nature.
Let them not do the slightest thing
That the wise would later reprove.
Wishing, in gladness and in safety,
May all beings be at ease.

Whatever living beings there may be,
Whether they are weak or strong, omitting none,
The great or the mighty, medium, short or small,
The seen and the unseen,
Those living near and far away,
Those born and to-be-born:

May all beings be at ease!
Let none deceive another,
Or despise any being in any state.
Let none through anger or ill-will Wish harm upon another.
Even as a mother protects with her life
Her child, her only child,
So with a boundless heart
Should one cherish all living beings.
Radiating kindness over the entire world,
Spreading upwards to the skies,
And downwards to the depths,
Outwards and unbounded,
Freed from hatred and ill-will,
Whether standing or walking, seated or lying down,
Free from drowsiness,
One should sustain this recollection.
This is said to be the sublime abiding.
By not holding to fixed views,
The pure-hearted one, having clarity of vision,
Being free from all sense desires,
Is not born again into this world.
This is what should be accomplished by the one who is wise, who seeks the good and has obtained peace:

Let one be strenuous, upright and sincere, without pride, easily contented and joyous.
Let one not be submerged by the things of the world.
Let one not take upon one’s self the burden of riches.
Let one’s senses be controlled.
Let one be wise but not puffed up, and let one not desire great possessions, even for one’s family.
Let one do nothing that is mean or that the wise would reprove.
May all beings be happy!
May they be joyous and live in safety!
All living beings, whether weak or strong, in high or middle or low realms of existence, small or great, visible or invisible, near or far born or to be born:
May all beings be happy!
Let no one deceive another nor despise any being in any state.
Let none by anger or hatred wish harm to another. Even as a mother at the risk of her life watches over and protects her only child, so with a boundless mind should one cherish all living things, suffusing love over the entire world, above, below, and all around without limit.
So let one cultivate an infinite good will toward the whole world.
Standing or walking, sitting or lying down, during all one’s waking hours let one practice the Way.
With gratitude, not holding to fixed views, endowed with insight, freed from sense appetites, one who achieves the Way will be freed from the duality of birth and death.
SONG OF ENLIGHTENMENT

Have you not seen the idle person of Tao who has nothing to learn and nothing to do,
Who neither discards wandering thoughts nor seeks the truth?
The real nature of ignorance is Buddha-nature;
The illusory, empty body is the Dharma body.

After realizing the Dharma body, there is not a thing;
Original self-nature is the innate Buddha.
The five skandhas: the empty comings and goings of floating clouds!

The Three Poisons: the vacant appearing and disappearing of water bubbles!
When the real is experienced there is neither person nor dharma.
In an instant the avici karma is destroyed.
If I lie to deceive sentient beings,
May my tongue be ripped out for kalpas uncountable as dust and sand.

Suddenly enlightened to Tathagata Ch’an,
The Six Paramitas and myriad means are complete within the essence
In dreams there are clearly six paths of sentient beings;
upon awakening the great chilicosm is completely empty.

There is no sin or merit, no loss or gain.
Don’t look for anything in this Nirvanic nature!
Originally a dusty mirror which has never been polished, today it must be taken apart and analyzed.

Who has no thoughts? Who has no births?
If the Unborn is real, there is nothing not born.
Ask the mechanical wooden puppet
When it will attain Buddhahood through practice.

Put down the four elements, don’t cling to anything;
In this Nirvanic nature, feel free to eat and drink.
All phenomena are impermanent; all are empty.
This is the complete enlightenment of the Tathagata.

Surely this is the true vehicle.
One who disagrees is swayed by emotion.
Going directly to the root is the seal of the Buddha;
No point searching for branches or plucking leaves.

The mani pearl is unknown to people;
It can be personally found in the Tathagatagarbha.
The functions of the six senses are both empty and not empty,
one perfect light with form yet formless.

Purify the Five Eyes to achieve the Five Powers. Only after realization can one comprehend. To see the image in a mirror is not difficult. How can one grasp the moon in the water?

Always acting alone, walking alone, Together the enlightened travel the Nirvana road. The tune is ancient, the spirit pure, the style poised, The face drawn, the bones hardened; people take no notice.

The penniless Buddhist monks say they are destitute; Though they have nothing, they are not poor in Tao. Poverty shows in the ragged robes they always wear; The priceless treasures of the Tao are stored in their minds. These priceless treasures have endless functions; There is no hesitation in helping others. The Three Bodies and Four Wisdoms are complete in essence; the Eight Liberations and Six Psychic Powers are the Mind-ground Seal.

For the great ones, one breakthrough accomplishes all; for the middling and inferior, the more they hear, the less they believe. You only have to discard the dirty garments within; No need to flaunt your diligence to others.

When criticized by others, let them wrong you; They will tire themselves trying to burn the sky with a torch. When I hear abuse, it is like drinking ambrosia; Melt it and suddenly one enters the inconceivable.

If we regard criticism as merit, the critics will become reliable friends. Do not hate those who slander you; How else can you manifest the unborn power of compassion?

Thoroughly understanding both basic principle and teaching, Samadhi and wisdom are complete and clear without stagnating in Emptiness. Not only do I accomplish this now; The essence of uncountable Buddhas is just the same.

Speak without fear as the lion roars; All animals hearing it cringe in fright. Losing his composure, the fragrant elephant gallops, With quiet joy, the heavenly dragon listens.
Traveling over river, ocean and mountain stream,
Seeking teachers, asking of the way to investigate Ch’an,
since I recognize the path of Tsao Chi
I realize all those do not relate to birth and death.

Walking is Ch’an, sitting is Ch’an.
Speaking or silent, moving or still, the essence is undisturbed.
Remain composed even if facing a sharp weapon,
Be at ease even if given poison.
My teacher only met Dipankara Buddha
After training in forbearance for many kalpas.

Continuing rounds of birth and death,
Samsara prolonged without interruption.
Since sudden enlightenment I understood the Unborn.
Thus I have no concern for honor or shame.

Living in a hermitage deep in the mountains,
On a lonely peak under a dense pine tree,
I would meditate contentedly in a monk’s hut,
At ease in this tranquil place.

After enlightenment no need for further effort;
All dharmas of activity are varied.
Giving alms with attachment bestows merit for heavenly birth,
like shooting an arrow into space.
Once its power is expended, the arrow falls,
Bringing discontent in the next life.
How can this compare to the true door of non-action,
Through which one leaps straight into the Tathagata ground?

Once you get to the root, don’t worry about the branches.
Like pure crystal containing a precious moon,
Since you have realized this all-giving pearl,
Benefit for yourself and others will never end.

The moon shines on the river, the breeze stirs the pine:
what is there to do on a long pleasant night?
Buddha-nature and the precepts jewel are sealed
in the Mind-ground.
Fog, dew and rosy clouds are now my garments.

The dragon-subduing alms bowl and the staff that separates igers with the jangling of its two metal rings,
Are not outer forms of keeping the Precepts,
But are holding the Tathagata’s staff and treading his path.

Not seeking the true, nor rejecting the false,
Realize that both are empty and formless.
There is no form, no emptiness and no non-emptiness;
this is the true mark of the Tathagata.

The mirror of mind reflects without interference;
Its vastness and clarity radiate through countless worlds;
Various phenomena all manifest themselves;
To a perfectly illumined one there is neither inside nor outside.

Attaching to emptiness, denying cause and effect,
Brings calamities beyond measure.
Rejecting existence and grasping emptiness is the same mistake,
like jumping into a fire to avoid drowning.

If you discard the illusory mind and grasp the true principle,
This mind of grasping and discarding becomes clever.
Not understanding this, practitioners engage in cultivation,
just as one mistakes a thief for his own son.

Loss of Dharma wealth and extinction of merits,
All are caused by the mind consciousness.
Through the Ch'an door, understand the cutting off of mind,
and suddenly enter the powerful view of the Unborn.

The great hero uses the sword of Wisdom;
This prajna blade blazes like a diamond.
It not only destroys the mind of the outer paths,
But long ago frightened away the heavenly demons.

Sound the Dharma thunder; beat the Dharma drum;
Spread the clouds of compassion and scatter ambrosia!
Where the elephant child treads the flavors are boundless,
The Three Vehicles and Five Natures are awakened.
The pinodhi grass in the snow mountains is unmixed;
I often enjoy the pure ghee it produces.

One nature perfectly pervades all natures;
One Dharma includes all dharmas.
One moon appears in all waters;
The moons reflected in all waters are One.

The Dharma body of all Buddhas enters my nature;
Which is the same as the Tathagata's.
One stage encompasses all stages,
Not form nor mind nor karmic act.

Eighty thousand doors are completed in a snap of the fingers,
In a flash three kalpas are extinguished.
What do numbers, expressions and their negations
Have to do with my spiritual awakening?

It is not perishable and cannot be praised,
Its substance is like limitless space.
Without leaving where it is, it is constantly clear.
When seeking, you know it cannot be found.
It cannot be grasped, nor can it be discarded;
It is obtained only in the unobtainable.

Speaking in silence, silent in speech,
The door of giving is wide open without obstruction.
If someone asks what basic principle I interpret,
I will say it is the power of Mahaprajna.

Others don't know whether I am right or wrong.
Even devas cannot fathom whether I oppose or agree.
I have practiced for many kalpas;
I am not deceiving you as some idlers do.

Setting up the Dharma banner, establishing the basic principle,
Ts’ao Ch’i clearly followed the Buddha’s decree.
The first one to pass on the lamp was Mahakasyapa;
In India it was transmitted through twenty-eight generations.

The Dharma flowed east and entered this land
Where Bodhidharma was the First Patriarch.
Six generations transmitted the robe, as heard throughout the land; and those who later attained the Tao cannot be counted.

The truth does not stand, the false is originally empty.
When both existence and non-existence are swept away,
not empty is empty.
The twenty empty doors teach non-attachment.
The nature of all Tathagatas is one; their substance is the same.

The mind is a sense organ; dharmas are its object.
The two are like marks on a mirror.
Once the dust is rubbed off, the light begins to appear.
When both mind and dharmas are forgotten,
this is true nature.

Oh, in this evil world in the Dharma-ending age,
Sentient beings have little fortune and are hard to discipline.
Far away from the time of the sages, perverted views run deep.
When demons are strong and Dharma is weak,
fears and dangers abound.
When they hear the teaching of sudden enlightenment of the Tathagata, they cannot but want to destroy it, to smash the tiles.

That which acts is the mind,
that which receives retribution is the body;
No need to put the blame on others.
If you want to escape continuous karma,
Do not slander the Tathagata’s wheel of right Dharma.

There are no other trees in a sandalwood forest.
The lion lives in luxuriant dense thickets.
He strolls along in the quiet woods;
All other animals and birds keep their distance.

A crowd of animals follows the lion’s son,
Who can roar at the age of three.
If a wild fox challenges the Dharma King,
It is like a monster opening his mouth for a hundred years.

The teaching of complete sudden enlightenment
is not to be used as a favor.
All unsettled doubts must be debated until clear.
Not that a mountain monk wants to be presumptuous,
But cultivation may make you fall into the pit of cessation and permanence.

Wrong is not wrong; right is not right;
The slightest deviation veers a thousand miles off course.
If right, the dragon maiden becomes Buddha at once;
If wrong, the monk Suraksatra falls alive into hell.

Since an early age I have accumulated knowledge,
Studying the sutras, shastras and commentaries.
Discriminating between names and forms without rest, I only troubled myself counting the sands in the sea.

I was severely reproached by the Tathagata.
What is the benefit of counting others’ treasures?
I realized the futility of my dawdlings;
For many years I busied myself in the world in vain.

With evil capacity and mistaken understanding,
One cannot penetrate the Tathagata’s principle of complete sudden enlightenment.
Hinayana monks, though diligent, forget the mind of Tao.
Outer path practitioners may be clever, but they lack wisdom.

The ignorant and the foolish think that the fist exists separately from the pointing finger.
Mistaking the finger for the moon, they practice uselessly;
they only fabricate strange illusions
in the realms of sense and object.

Not perceiving a single dharma: this is Tathagata.
Only then can one be called the Supreme Observer.
With this realization karmic obstacles are innately empty;
Without realization, past debts must be paid off.
If one is unable to take the royal feast even when hungry,
how can he be healed even if he meets the king of doctors?

Practicing Ch’an in the desire realm manifests
the power of knowledge,
Indestructible as a lotus grown in a fire.
Though Pradhanasura broke the main precepts,
hé awakened to the Unborn;
He long ago reached the Buddha state and remains there still.

Even when one preaches fearlessly as the lion roars,
The minds of the perverse and obstinate only harden.
They continue to break the main precepts and obstruct Bodhi and cannot see the secret the Tathagata reveals.

Two monks broke the precepts against licentiousness and killing,
With his shallow knowledge, Upali exaggerated the sin.
The great Vimalakirti instantly removed their doubts,
Like a hot sun that melts ice and snow.

The power of the liberated is inconceivable,
With wonderful functions more numerous than the sands of the Ganges.
They would not refuse to make the four offerings

To one who cannot accept ten thousand ounces of gold.
To have body broken and bones reduced to dust is not enough to repay the words that enlighten, transcending countless eons.
The king in Dharma is the most superior;
The realization of countless Tathagatas are all alike.

Now I show you this all-giving pearl; Believers are all in accord.
They clearly see that there is not a thing,
Neither person nor Buddha.
The numerous worlds in the great chilicosm
are bubbles in the sea,
Even sages and saints are like lightning flashes.
Even if an iron wheel whirls on your head,
Perfect, clear samadhi and wisdom are never lost.

The sun may turn cold and the moon may turn hot,
But the demons cannot destroy the true teaching.
When an elephant marches gloriously forward,
How can a praying mantis bar its way?

The elephant does not follow the rabbit’s path;
The enlightened are not bound by trivial restraints.
Do not slander heaven when you observe it through a reed,
For those who do not yet know, I am giving you the key.
OLD CREEK

Since before anyone remembers,
it has been clear, shining like silver.
Though the moonlight penetrates it
and the wind ruffles it, no trace of either remains.
Today I would not dare to expound
the secret of the stream bed,
But I can tell you that the blue dragon lies coiled there.

VERSE OF THE KESA

Wondrous is the robe of liberation,
A treasure beyond form and emptiness!
Wearing it I will unfold Buddha’s Teaching
For the benefit of all sentient beings.
First the Prajna Paramita (pages 3-4) is chanted, followed by the serving of the food. Then,

THE FIVE REFLECTIONS

First, let us reflect deeply on our true efforts and the efforts of those who brought us this food.

Second, may we live in a way that makes us worthy to receive it.

Third, what is most essential is the practice of mindfulness, which helps us transcend greed, anger and delusion.

Fourth, we appreciate this food, which sustains the good health of our body and mind.

Fifth, we accept this food to complete the Awakening of the pure Mind of all beings.

VERSE OF THE THREE MORSELS OF FOOD

The first morsel is to cut all delusions,
The second morsel is to maintain our clear mind,
The third morsel is to liberate all sentient beings.
May we all realize the Buddha Way!
Following the meal, the water offering is made, during which the following is chanted:

VERSE OF THE WATER OFFERING

The water with which we wash our bowls

tastes like heavenly nectar;

we drink it for the myriad beings in all realms,

that they, too, may be filled and satisfied!

Following the water offering, the appropriate end of meal chant is recited:

VERSE AFTER THE MORNING MEAL

Having finished the morning meal,

let us pray that all beings may accomplish

whatever tasks they are engaged in

and be fulfilled with all the Buddha Dharma!

VERSE AFTER THE MIDDAY MEAL

Having finished the midday meal,

our bodily strength is fully restored,

our power extends over the ten quarters

and through the three periods of time and we are strong.

As to revolving the Wheel of Dharma,

let no thought be wasted over it.

May all beings attain true wisdom!
Part II: THE 16 PRECEPTS
THE THREE TREASURES

I take refuge in Buddha, and resolve that with all beings I will understand the Great Way whereby the Buddha seed may forever thrive.

I take refuge in Dharma, and resolve that with all beings I will enter deeply into the sutra-treasure whereby my wisdom may grow as vast as the ocean.

I take refuge in Sangha, and in its wisdom, example, and never-failing help, and resolve to live in harmony with all sentient beings.

THE THREE GENERAL RESOLUTIONS

I resolve to avoid evil.
I resolve to do good.
I resolve to liberate all sentient beings.

THE TEN CARDINAL PRECEPTS

1. I resolve not to kill, but to cherish all life.

2. I resolve not to take what is not given, but to respect the things of others.

3. I resolve not to misuse sexuality, but to be caring and responsible.

4. I resolve not to lie, but to speak the truth.

5. I resolve not to cause others to abuse alcohol or drugs, nor to do so myself, but to keep the mind clear.

6. I resolve not to speak of the faults of others, but to be understanding and sympathetic.

7. I resolve not to praise myself and disparage others, but to overcome my own shortcomings.

8. I resolve not to withhold spiritual or material aid, but to give them freely where needed.

9. I resolve not to indulge in anger, but to practice forbearance.

10. I resolve not to revile the Three Treasures but to cherish and uphold them.
Part III: MEMORIAL PRAYER
MEMORIAL PRAYER

O Buddhas and Bodhisattvas,
abiding in all directions,
endowed with great compassion, endowed with love,
affording protection to sentient beings,
consent through the power of your great compassion
to come forth.

O Compassionate Ones,
you who possess the wisdom of understanding,
the love of compassion,
the power of protecting in incomprehensible measure, [name of the deceased] is passing from this world to the next.
S/he is taking a great leap.
The light of this world has faded for her/him.
S/he has entered solitude with his/her karmic forces.
S/he has gone into a vast Silence.
S/he is borne away by the Great Ocean of birth and death.

O Compassionate Ones,
protect [name of the deceased], who is defenseless.
Be to him like a father and a mother.

O Compassionate Ones,
Let not the force of your compassion be weak, but aid him/her.
Forget not your ancient vows!
CHANTING AND THE ZEN TRADITION

Zen chanting is basically another form of zazen and therefore differs from the chanting of other spiritual traditions. Conscious awareness of the meaning of the words is not so important; this meaning is absorbed on a subconscious level. Of primary importance is the mind state created by the chanting, namely, absolute oneness to the point of self-forgetfulness.

How to Chant:

To be effective, chanting must be clear, wholehearted and concentrated. Performed in this way it is a means of strengthening our samadhi power and deepening our understanding. Accordingly, our Buddha-nature will shine with greater luster in our daily life.

Each chanter finds his or her own lowest natural pitch, a note in the lowest part of one’s range that can be maintained without strain. At the same time it is important for one to blend in with the dominant pitch so there is a harmonious unity. This may mean a slight adjustment to one’s pitch. The words of the chants flow together. If the syllables—particularly the consonants—are enunciated too precisely, the chanting becomes choppy.

Posture and Chanting

Chanting is normally done while seated in a cross-legged posture, unless that is impossible without strain. It is important to keep the body relaxed and especially not to tense the shoulders, chest or throat. Unlike the Tibetan form of chanting, in Zen there is no swaying or rocking during chanting. Simply maintain a relaxed yet taut, erect posture.

Hands are placed palm to palm (in gassho) during the Ancestral Line, the Vows of the Bodhisattva, the various Return of Merit [Eko] intoned by the lead chanter after certain chants, the Ten Directions, Dai E Zenji’s Vow for Awakening, Master Hakuin’s Chant in Praise of Zazen, the Shikuseigan and the Bodhisattva Vows.

The energy for chanting comes from the hara (lower abdomen) with the sound resonating in the chest and head cavities.

The mokugyo (wooden fish drum) sets the cadence of the chants. It should be followed carefully and its changes in rhythm among the different chants adjusted to. Usually there is one beat of the mokugyo for each syllable chanted.

Throughout the book, words in bold are chanted by the Densu (Lead Chanter).

Mind is unlimited.
Chanting when performed egolessly has the power to penetrate visible and invisible worlds.

—Roshi Philip Kapleau
NOTES ON INDIVIDUAL CHANTS:

The Prajna Paramita Hridaya is an English translation of the Hannya Shingyo. We chant both the English and the Japanese wording of this important chant because in Japan it is the Lingua Franca of Buddhist temples, and we have a strong karmic link with Japan.

In the Ancestral Line, the emphasized syllables in the Sanskrit names have been italicized. The Chinese names are given twice. On the first line is given the Pinyin romanization, and on the second line is given the phonetic romanization.

The Ten-Verse Kannon Sutra for Extending Life is an English translation of the Enmei Jukku Kannon Gyo.

Regarding dharani: "As phonetic translations of Sanskrit words, dharani have doubtlessly lost much of their profound meaning through the inevitable alterations of the original sounds. But as anyone who has recited them for any length of time knows, in their effect on the spirit they are anything but meaningless."

The Vow of the Bodhisattva was written by Torei Enji-zenji, deeply realized Dharma Heir of Master Hakuin.

Affirming Faith in Mind was written by Seng Ts’ian, the Third Patriarch, and is believed to be the first Chinese Zen document.

The Four Bodhisattva Vows (distinct from The Vow of the Bodhisattva) are also known as The Four Vows. They are an English translation of the Shikuseigan.

*See Philip Kapleau-roshi, The Three Pillars of Zen, p. 17

Atta Dipa is a Pali verse. The oldest extant Buddhist texts are in Pali and are from Ceylon (Sri Lanka). This chant is purported to be the last words of Shakyamuni Buddha.

The Harmony of Relative and Absolute was written by Shitou Xiqian, whose lineage is one of two composing "the root of all subsequent Zen schools and lineages down to the present day."

The Song of Enlightenment was written by Yung-chia Hsuan-chueh [d. 713]. It is said that after a great many years of practice, he finally made his way to the Sixth Patriarch, Hui Neng, to have his understanding confirmed; Hui Neng confirmed it.
